POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

Fate sometimes plays funny tricks on politicians, just as it does on less spectacular mortals.

Governor Earl Warren, for example, may soon find himself in the role of the reluctant dragon, chosen (without his knowledge or consent) to slay Wendell Willkie and become the 1944 presidential nominee of the Republican Party.

Yet Mr. Warren, so far as his friends have been able to learn, has no grudge against Mr. Willkie—and has not, at least as yet, considered himself as more than a "favorite son" candidate for President, with, perhaps, a fair-to-middling chance of becoming the GOP nominee for vice-president, if the cards should fall that way.

Out of the steaming cauldron stirred by the fates, however, may come a very different picture, with Governor Warren gradually emerging as a full-fledged candidate for the Republican nomination for President. And even Mr. Warren, at this moment, may not know just what the fates have in store for him.

It now appears (from reports seeping back from the East) that the recent visit here of John D. M. Hamilton, former chairman of the Republican National Committee and spearhead of the anti-Willkie forces, had more significance than first admitted. Mr. Hamilton, it is reported, came here at the behest of certain Eastern interests in the Republican Party, who have become dissatisfied with Governor Dewey of New York, to take a serious look at Governor Warren and determine whether he had presidential stature. And his report is said to have been highly favorable.

The reason for the dissatisfaction with Governor Dewey as "the man to stop Willkie" on the part of the gentlemen whom Mr. Hamilton represents, seems to be two-fold. First, that he still persists in saying he isn't a candidate—and recently was quoted as having told a radio commentator he wouldn't accept the nomination for President if it was proffered him. Second, that he offended the isolationists in the party by his recent declaration in favor of an active alliance between the United States and Britain to insure future world peace.

Governor Warren on the other hand, has said little or nothing on the international situation—and is considered, by all odds, the strongest of the Republican Governors who have attracted public attention. Then, too, California is considered a pivotal state both because of the 50 votes it will control in the GOP Convention, and because when presidential voting time rolls around, it is expected that the European phase of the war will be over and that the spotlight will be on the Pacific, with California as the Nation's base of operations.

The strategy said to be favored currently, by the Eastern titals is to use Governor Bricker of Ohio as a stalking-horse, and then, if and when Bricker and Willkie deadlock, to trot out Warren as the man to win. This, of course, may call for a little cooperation on the part of Governor Warren. And thus far that gentleman has been as gravely uncommunicative on the subject as the Sphinx.

"Theremin Vox" Demonstrated at Kiwanis Meeting

Earl Adams of San Jose gave a very interesting demonstration of the "Theremin Vox" at the Kiwanis meeting Tuesday.

Presented by Ethan Lanphear, Adams told of the invention of the instrument by Professor Theremin of Paris and its introduction about 1928.

After explaining in some detail the workings of the machine, Adams demonstrated it by playing a Christmas Carol, "Gypsy Sweetheart" and "Moonlight Sonata."

The Theremin Vox resembles to quite a degree, a radio. Tone waves are caused by the player standing near the instrument within a certain magnetic field. Variations of tone are produced by changing the distances in this field, which varies oscillating waves through this magnetic field.

The tones of many stringed instruments as violin and 'cello can be accurately reproduced.

Visitors for the day were Folger Hansen, of the staff Farm Labor office and manager of the Campbell office when open during the season, Rev. Miles Post, president-elect of Mt. View club, Dr. E. D. Kilbourne of Los Gatos and Rev. Roy Wilson, district superintendent of Methodist churches.

Mrs. E. E. Lanphear and Mrs. J. E. Murdock substituted for the caterer in preparing the luncheon and received the hearty appreciation of the club.

Next Tuesday, Herbert Shadle, president-elect, will hold a school of instruction for officers and committee men who will serve in 1944.

DECEMBER 15th TAXES

Santa Claus comes in December, but so does another elderly gentleman with white hair and chin whiskers—the chap known as your Uncle Sam. Santa comes to give you something, but Uncle Sam will be around to collect.

This is just another way of saying that for many people tax time is here again, and December 15 is the deadline.

If you filed in September and have a payment due this month you should now have received a reminder slip from the tax collector. Be sure to send this slip along with your payment so that you will get proper credit. If you find that you underestimated your tax by more than 20 per cent in September, you can make an amended tax statement. Farmers were exempted from filing three months ago but must report this time.

Remember, if you are required to file, it is important not only that you do it but that your declaration be accurate. And to be accurate you must keep a record of your financial transactions. If you don't you may unintentionally pay more or less than your fair share of taxes.

Paying taxes in America isn't a duty—it's a priviledge for it helps to protect our right to live our lives free from tyranny and terror.

TIME OUT FOR SANTA CLAUS

No matter how troubled the world may be, Santa Claus shows up, as regular as clock-work, every year. The old fellow with the whiskers, the big tummy and the beaming smile knows, perhaps, that we need him more in difficult times than in good—and neither shot nor shell can keep him from his regular rounds when the Yuletide season nears.

With so much of the world bathed in bloodshed, and with so much human misery, and worry and heartache, we have double need of Santa Claus this year. It isn't only the children who need him. We all need him; we all need a little of the spirit of Christmas in our hearts. For in the midst of war, we long the more for peace on earth—and goodwill toward men.

So let's get busy with the happy task of giving gifts and bringing good cheer to others. Time is short. Christmas will soon be here. And Santa Claus, this year, has double need of helpers. But as we buy gifts for our loved ones, let's also buy another bond for Uncle Sam. And maybe next year we can have a happier Christmas, with our boys by our firesides again, and the joy of peace in our hearts and in our world.

DONATIONS APPRECIATED

A senator has introduced a bill in Congress which, he says, would raise billions in cash through donations from patriotic citizens.

It goes something like this: Out of the goodness of your heart you contribute $2 to Uncle Sam. In appreciation of this noble gesture your Uncle hands you a neatly printed certificate so you can prove your generosity in case any body ever calls you a "tight-wad" or some other opprobrious appellation. Uncle keeps a stub and then every 60 days or so he chucks the stubs into a pot and gives himself the "blindfold test."

If your stub happens to be one of those he draws out—guess what? You, my friend, are "rewarded" with a sum ranging from $50,000 down to $100, depending on the order in which your stub was drawn.

A lottery? Horrors, no! The bill is designed to "encourage voluntary contributions to the Treasury to aid in prosecuting the war."

AN EDITORIAL ABOUT WOMEN

(By A Man)

Because a lot of women didn't do their duty by their country, a lot of men are going to war next month, leaving their women behind them. Reading between the lines, that's what the Selective Service dictums out of Washington are saying. The headlines read: "Draft To Take 300,000 Men In January Call!" And then, when you read the story, it turns out that one of the reasons so many men are being called is that so few women responded.

Shame on the dames! How could they let us down this way? That may be the married man's reaction, as he kisses his wife goodbye and sorrowfully looks down on his children. This never would have happened (so he thinks) except for the fact that those unencumbered wenches thought more of their powder puffs, and a life of ease at home, than they thought of Uncle Sam.

Government agencies are belaboring the ladies, telling them that only 60,000 WACS responded, when hundreds of thousands were needed. And Damon Runyon, that indignant gentleman of the old school, snorts and bellows, but the ladies still don't enlist. But do you know why? The truth of the matter is (the girls tell us) that their gentlemen friends say "No!" "We don't want you talking like a top-sergeant," say the recalcitrant males. "War is no business for ladies. It's too rough and tough."

That's what it boils down to. So the fault, if there be any fault, lies with the men, not with the women. And the ladies, as usual, win the argument—and the men go off to war. A man just can't win!

FINISH THE JOB

Not all the fighting in Italy is being done on the battlefront. Back of the scenes, overshadowed by the military activity, the struggle of Victor Emmanuel to cling to his tottering throne goes on.

Count Sforza, famous anti-fascist recalled to Italy after years of exile, refuses to form a government until both the King and Crown Prince step down. Allied officials are leaving it to the Italian people to decide.

But the Italians just now are interested in one thing—bread. If they have that they don't care whether the King goes or stays. Neither do we from a personal standpoint. But on the long-range view we care very much. Fascism in Italy is not dead. The King worked hand in hand with Mussolini — while Benito was doing well. Many army officers remain strongly fascistic.

Unless we insist upon a genuine purge from the top right down to the bottom, we'll be leaving the seeds of fascism to sprout for the next generation of Americans to clean up again. We should finish the job this time.

TOKYO BLUES

Tokyo apparently has a bad case of the blues. The Jap warlords seem to be preparing themselves, and their fellow countrymen, for the fact that Germany may soon be knocked out of the war—and that its usefulness, as an ally, already has virtually ended.

For the Tokyo radio sadly blares the news: "We must fight this war by ourselves . . . .We should not be dependent on others . . . . We must win by our own efforts."

How unhappy the Nips must be when they make such an admission. Their original plan was far different. Hitler was going to keep us well occupied in Europe whle Japan took its time with the conquest of the Pacific. But the Nazis let them down. Sad, isn't it? Sad, we mean, for Tokyo!

EUROPEAN CRISIS

The war in Europe is thundering toward a close. That much is deadly certain. Whether it will come in a matter of days or weeks—or whether the end is still months away—we can not know. But it is becoming more and more evident every day that the Nazis see only doom ahead of them.

A desperate Hitler, seeking to stave off disaster a little longer, cries out to his troops: "The Nation which loses will have ended its existence because it is madness to expect anything else of this battle but victory or perdition."

And for Hitler and those who must share the war guilt with him, that is undeniably true. Only perdition awaits them. We can only hope that it isn't too long postponed.

Martin Hall Will Lecture at Church Wednesday, 15th

MARTIN HALL

As a public service to the people of the Campbell community the Methodist church committee on the Church and Society will present Martin Hall next Wednesday evening, Dec. 15 at 7:30 o'clock at the Methodist church.

Mr. Hall, a native of Germany, knows intimately the rise of the Nazi movement and as a free-lance reporter throughout Europe he has had insights into developments which were obscured to the average reporter. For three years he covered the underground movement against Hitler for the Manchester Guardian.

Forced to flee his native country in 1936 he went to Paris, then to London for six months, back to Paris and thence to the United States. He says, "Having watched the growth of Nazism and the decline of democracy in my native country, I feel it is my duty to emphasize that Fascism cannot grow only in German soil but its danger is imminent to all people of all countries, including the United States." His topic will be "The European Revolution and the United States."

There will be no admission charge. The offering which is received will be given to the Institute of International Relations at Mills College. The local sponsoring committee wishes to emphasize this as a service to the community in view of the post-war problems and planning.

Used Household Goods Covered By Price Ceilings

With sales of used household goods increasing now that manufacturers are turning out war materials instead of furnishings, here's a reminder.

Secondhand goods are covered by price ceilings to protect shoppers from being overcharged because of a great demand for merchandise. A seller of used household goods cannot ask more than three-fourths of the ceiling price on the brand new item if it is in "good condition"—that is, if it is reasonably clean and can be used without any further repair at the time of the sale. However, if any repair or parts are needed before the article can be used, the second-hand merchandise can be sold for only one-third of the new price.

YOUR GOVERNMENT ASKS —

SHOP NOW AND MAIL BEFORE DEC. 10th

Because . . .

1. You will have better selection of merchandise.
2. You can shop leisurely and avoid crowds.
3. You will have better service at this time.
4. Packages sent early will avoid congested mails.

FRANK C. WALKER, Postmaster General, says . . .

"We are faced with shortages of manpower and equipment while transportation facilities are carrying an unprecedented burden . . . I strongly urge the people to buy their Christmas gifts as early as possible and to mail them in November. Last-minuate gifts should be in the post offices before December 10th."

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

"The Forgotten Ally" by Pierre Van Paassen.

Here are some of the perplexing questions answered in this book:

"What is the best-kept secret of the war?"

"Is organized religion fighting the People's War?"

"Why did Rommel take his time instead of smashing right through to Alexandria in 1941?"

"Who tried to steal Rommel's campaign plans for Britain's Eighth Army leader?"

"What brought about the miracle of Montgomery's triumph over the Axis in the Middle East?"

These and many other momentary questions are answered by the author of "Days of Our Years" which was a book that reached new heights in popularity the year of publication.

The primary issue with Mr. Van Paassen in "The Forgotten Ally" is the present plight of the Jews in the world. The author shows the way to the solution of a problem that has plagued Christian civilization for many centuries. It stamps Van Paassen as an undaunted, fearles fighter for all mistreated minority groups in this One World.

Here is a book that should be read by all peoples, regardless of race or creed.

Christmas Play Scheduled For Dec. 24; Two Showings

The annual Chrismas play, which has a new idea this year, is now well under way with Miss Paula Bradshaw doing the directing, managing, prompting, planning, producing, and worrying. Miss Mary Lewis is in charge of the set which will be "wonderful," to quote the manager.

The characters to date are as follows: Conrad Smith, David Solon, Reba Lee Fryar, and Betty Putney. There are still a few minor parts which have not yet been cast, and Miss Bradshaw is considering a number of students for these roles.

The performance will be given at night on Dec. 22 for the public and an afternoon performance will be given on Dec. 24 for the students. Admission for both will be free.

The producer divulged the fact that the orchestra, directed by Guilbert Dumont, and the choir, under the direction of C. P. Klassen, will entertain between scenes of the three-act production.

The following statement on the play from the director reflects the enthusiasm of the performers: "It is dramatic—and it is good!" As previously announced, the presentation is an adaptation of the play, "The Bishop's Candlestickss."

Drive for Scrap Still Continues

Thirty per cent of the students at Campbell Hi contributed scrap. "What happened to the other 70 per cent?" is the question being asked today.

The drive is not over as believed and students are still urged to bring in scrap or report the location of scrap to the office. The school truck is going out regularly to pick up the scrap.

To date members of the student body and residents of Campbell have contributed fifteen tons of scrap metal. This makes a total of sixty pounds per person. Although good, this amount could easily be bettered, according to members of the group in charge.

The scrap committee reports that as yet they are unable to make out a full and accurate report on the amount of scrap brought in or reported; but they are continuing to gather scrap, and this information will be completed soon.

"Keep your eyes and ears open," urges Al McQueen, "and report any scrap available to your scrap committee."

Girl Reserves To Give Dance

Cricket Girls, the junior Girl Reserves, will sponsor a dance at the Campbell Woman's club building Saturday night, Dec. 11, from 8:30 to 12:30.

Bill Smith's orchestra will play, and the girls are planning for a big night. Admission will be 50 cents stag, 75 cents for couples.

Buccaneers to Meet Indians Friday In Basketball Season Opener

With the football season ended, Campbell sports fans are eagerly awaiting the opening of the basketball season on this coming Friday, when Coach Ralph Noddin's cagers will clash with Fremont's Indians at 7 p. m. in the gym.

As many veterans are returning for the season, hopes are high for a victory over the Indians. Although no starting lineup has been given out, there are several good men for each position.

This year the Buccaneers will play two games each with San Jose Tech, Mountain View, Los Gatos, Santa Clara, and Fremont. One game will be played on the home court of each team, which will give Campbell students plenty of chances to see their team in action.

Members of the teams are:

Varsity—forwards: Del Grande, McQueen, Grattan, Causack; and Smith; centers: Wilson, Cowper, Howe; guards: Skaggs, Magnuson, Gutto, Nelson, Smith, Livingston, Grizzle, Miranda and Kennedy.

130's—forwards: Amaro, Ekstrand, Hansen, Keesling, Meyer, and Jeffers; centers: Williamson, Harris, Todd, Evans and Grim; guards: Buck, Zimmer, Dinapoli, and Lamar.

FROSH ELECT CLARK TO LEAD CLASS

For the first time in several years Campbell's freshman class is an organized group. The class of '47 is off to a good start with an excellent corps of officers recently elected. Kent Clark as president is one to get things going, and he will get cooperation from his officers who are as follows: Sonny Smeed, vice-president; Pat Whitmore, secretary; Eva Mae Lobrovich, business manager; Eddie Bersano, sergeant-at-arms.

Newly elected cabinet members are Joan Kennedy, Wayne Buck, Geraldine Loveday, LaVerne Olsen and Jim Beth.

Forming a constitution is the major item on the frosh list of activities. They are also making plans to raise money and sponsor a freshman dance.

Students of Campbell Hi will be interested to know that Sgt. and Mrs. John H. Crawford are parents of a son, John Dennis, born Nov. 29. Mrs. Crawford, the former Dorothy Penhall, was office secretary here until her resignation in September.

Survey Shows Summer Earnings Of Students Total $117,743.60

Students of Campbell Hi went all out for victory last summer. They did their part—and did it well—by occuping vital positions and temporarily relieving the severe manpower situation in this country.

In a recent survey it was found that of the entire student body 513 students worked — only four didn't. Even more remarkable were the facts that the number of working days were calculated at 30,753 with the total earnings of $117,743.60, an average of $229.77 per student. All this money was earned at the average rate of 60 cents an hour.

It is interesting to note that 304 of the workers were girls. The boys working numbered 209.

Many of the students worked at home, but the majority were employed elsewhere. Fourteen different types of jobs were filled—fruit and berry picking, dairy farm work, general farm work, cannery, other farm work, vegetable gardening, poultry farm work, dry yard work, walnut picking, dehydration work, defense work, other industries, business estblishments and housekeeping.

Various means of transportation were employed in conveying students to and from their jobs. The greater number walked, while others rode bicycles, went in family cars, friends' cars, with volunteer drivers, and city bus lines. In several cases farmers supplied transportation, and in one case a school bus was used.

Banquet Honors Football Players

A banquet was held Friday evening in honor of the football team. Speaker was clarence Sands, who spoke on "The Biggest Game of All—Life." Present were members of the football team, Principal W. H. Van Dyke, Ray Bishop, Joe Gomes, Mrs. Jessie Shelley and W. N. Lloyd, all school board members; Floyd Williamson, commissioner of awards and Bill Smith, toastmaster.

The meal was prepared by the cooking class. The banquet was given by the social affairs commission under the direction of Miss Frances Parks. Decorations at the head table were in the form of a gridiron with goal posts wrapped in cardinal and blue.

Scott's Marionettes were presented to the students of Campbell Hi yesterday in a very interesting assembly.

The little people on strings provided much mirth and entertainment for the student body.

Fuel Dealers To Save Gas

Solid fuel dealers in 21 communities of the San Francisco metropolitan bay area will save more than 27,600 gallons of gasoline annually through new distribution plans approved by the Office of Defense Transportation, J. Roy Willhide, division of motor transport district manager announced here today.

The plans saving more than 221,000 miles operations annually have been developed by dealers in San Francisco, Oakland and all bay area towns, San Jose, Santa Clara, Campbell, Cupertino, Los Gatos, to conserve the gasoline supply.

Willhide said, "I want to ask householders to cooperate with their dealers in this wartime effort."

He added that plans call for joint use of fuel yards by dealers, hauling of capacity loads, deliveries once a week on individual routes and deliveries of not less than five sacks at a time (except in emergency cases).

The ODT officials urged householders to watch the newspapers for announcements of delivery schedules in their particular areas.

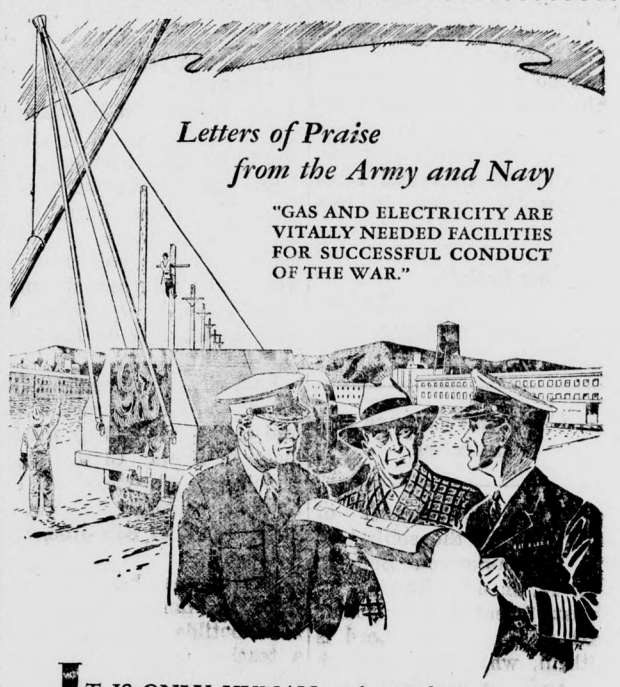
Letters of Praise from the Army and Navy

"GAS AND ELECTRICITY ARE VITALLY NEEDED FACILITIES FOR SUCCESSFUL CONDUCT OF THE WAR."



IT IS ONLY HUMAN to be made happy by words of praise for a job well done, especially when such praise comes from high ranking officers of the Army and Navy.

At any rate, that is the way the men and women of this company feel about letters of commendation received from Lieutenant General Delos C. Emmons, United States Army, and Vice Admiral J. W. Greenslade of the United States Navy. They are pleased and proud and determined to keep vitally needed gas and electricity flowing in full supply—on time—all the time. Below are excerpts from the letters:

From Admiral Greenslade:

"I am informed by the Inspector of Naval Material and by other officers of my staff having cognizance that the Pacific Gas and Electric Company met wartime demands swiftly and efficiently while at the same time continuing to supply the increased population of the district with essential services. . . . The Company is serving, or has undertaken to serve over a Million Kilowatts of Electricity and over Twelve Billion Feet of Natural Gas to Army and Navy establishments and War Industries. . . . All hands in the Pacific Gas and Electric Company should feel that they have played their part in establishing new construction and production records in this district. . . ."

From General Emmons:

. . . "In view of the splendid performance of the men and women of your organization during the period of emergency, I desire to record my word of commendation to them. The area embraced in the Western United States is a particularly vital and critical one in this war. It has been necessary to construct and operate numerous flying fields . . . to construct shipyards and repair docks and other marine facilities. . . . It is gratifying to know that all of the demands which have been made upon your people and your facilities have been met with most praiseworthy performance and that every reasonable expectation fulfilled."

To all the gas and electric customers, the men and women of this company in turn say—"Thanks for your help" through your voluntary conservation in the use of gas and electricity in the home. Conservation is helping us and helping the war effort.
